

Things We Will Not Do To Get Customers.

We like to do business, we enjoy it. Nothing fascinates us more than selling goods.

BUT we will not stoop to deceit, over-talk and over-promises.

AND although we do not go to every extreme to get customers, we do go to every extreme to hold them.

WE believe in the goods we sell. We believe they are the very best the market affords.

WE know our prices are as low as will permit of honest merchandising.

WE keep our conduct abreast of our efforts, and therefore you can deal with us with satisfaction, with profit, with pleasure and safety.

A marriage license was granted Wednesday afternoon by Judge Grant to Miss Louise Osterhout age 17, and Ray Thrasher age 21 both of this city. The young couple were married the same evening by Rev. Knowles of the Christian church.

Business College for North Platte.

S. P. Randall, field secretary of a very large commercial college, has been in the city several days looking over the field with the idea in view of locating a first-class, up to date business college in North Platte. This is an enterprise that should meet the hearty approval of all our citizens, as a college of this kind will not only keep a great many of our young people at home, that would otherwise go away to school, but as Mr. Randall expects to travel from town to town, surrounding here, he will be the means of drawing others to North Platte. Another splendid feature of the college is that a night school will be conducted as well as the day, giving those who are employed an opportunity to take up this important work.

Mr. Randall explains that the only requirement necessary to secure this school for North Platte is the signature of thirty students and it is hoped that all those who "desire" to take advantage of such an education will sign for scholarship.

There is no money to be paid until the college is opened, so no one need hesitate to enroll. Unless the required number can be secured the school will not locate here, which would be a loss to our city.

The Chamber of Commerce has gone into this matter and has assured Mr. Randall that they will cooperate with him, and assist in any way possible in securing the required number of students.

Miss Thoelecke will Give Party.

The Omaha Bee printed a picture of Miss Bertha Thoelecke, formerly of this city, in its issue yesterday and said:

Miss Bertha Thoelecke, Clifton Hill school teacher, who drew claim No. 49 in the North Platte land lottery will give a theatre party for all the teachers in Clifton Hill school. The party will attend one of the Robert Mantell performances, probably going Saturday evening.

Miss Thoelecke promised to give a box party for the Clifton Hill teachers if she won a claim. She has now discovered there are just thirteen teachers in the school, but because of her good fortune in drawing a 640-acre claim she is not worrying over the hard luck bogie.

Laura Frankfield Coming.

Laura Frankfield is coming to the Keith theatre on Tuesday, Nov. 4th, in the role of "Helena Richie." This is the version used by Margaret Anglin and dramatized for her by Charlotte Thompson from the book by the same name. Helena Richie's soul awakening seems so natural and possible amidst the Old Chester people and Old Chester surroundings, with Dr. Lavender at his best, as philanthropist, philosopher and mentor. This woman has violated the structural facts of the moral law. She is led by little David, a homeless child whom she takes, to discover the great religion of duty. When her life becomes known and Dr. Lavender regards her unfit to keep David, her submission to the law of retributive justice which operates for a time then gives way, and her determination to make the remainder of her life "clear and sound" but give evidence to the genuineness of her awakened sincerity.

The "big scene" of the play is where Helena confesses that she is not worthy to keep David. It requires a great artist to meet the demands made upon her and Miss Frankfield fully meets the demands.

"David" in "The Awakening of Helena Richie" is irresistible. Dr. Lavender has been flattered by the child's wrapt attention to the stories he has been telling. "Well, well," he said, "You are a great boy for stories, aren't you? You've talked seven minutes" said David thoughtfully, "and you have not moved your upper jaw once."

The play is peopled with real live characters. Do not forget this splendid dramatization of Margaret Deland's novel will be seen here with Laura Frankfield as the star.

Stamping Out Hog Cholera.

The United States department of agriculture, co-operating with the University of Nebraska and the state sanitary board, has formed a special district, composed of Johnson county and the north half of Gage, in which to attempt the extermination of hog cholera.

Survey will first be made of the district to ascertain the present condition of hogs. Beginning next spring men will be placed in the field to prevent the spread of any disease which may be present, to cure herds where the disease is raging and to instruct the farmers as to the best methods of preventing the spread of the disease.

Liberal use will be made of serum and virus where it seems advisable. It is believed that this will prove that hog cholera can be stamped out if sensible precautions are taken. The government's share of the expenses will be paid from a special appropriation of $75,000 made by the last congress.

A HEN WILL LAY or bust her egg hopper if you feed Conkey's Laying Tonic. Get a package at John Ritner's today and try it.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevens and children, of Maxwell, returned home yesterday morning after several days' visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Raney, of Wallace, and Mrs. Arthur Brewer, of Sutherland, spent yesterday in town on business.

Jess Smith left Wednesday for Gothenburg to visit his parents and transact business for a day or two.

For Thirty or more Years.

We have been making repairing cleaning, and altering clothes for the people of North Platte. We have aimed to give satisfaction, and we guess we have been successful, else the people would not now patronize us. Give us a chance to do your work.
